

TONY KART RACER EVRR IN 2012

Tony Kart is glad to announce that Racer EVRR chassis is still going to be considered as its production's peak model for next 2012 season, too. High competitiveness gained by the RACER EVRR as well as the many results obtained give us confidence in this winning chassis model, which will be employed in the most important International competitions.

Racer EVRR chassis was introduced on last season (2010) and soon confirmed its best performances: speed, reliability and versatility. At its debut, on the occasion of the Las Vegas Super Nationals, Racer EVRR got a clear success in the prestigious KZ category, thus giving a further confirmation of being a "complete kart" and by winning also the Macau International Grand Prix in KF1 category. On this occasion too, it was the Number one. Nowadays, Racer EVRR is absolutely the most used chassis in any International competition, both in KF and in KZ categories. Its technical appraisal is stimulating us in working with more and more enthusiasm, with the aim of taking our team partners and drivers up at the highest level.

Traditionally, Tony Kart invests in the research and development and all his technical staff is studying and planning more and more developed and performing technical components. Next to the Racer EVRR, once more we will find the Krypton KSX, which gave us also a lot of satisfaction on the occasion of all International and National championships.

Racer EVRR and Krypton KSK can be seen in 360° panoramic view at the website:
